Hello!

I'm excited to apply for this role, as it perfectly aligns with my passion and skill set. With experience as a developer, designer, tech lead, and manager, I'm dedicated to designing and delivering robust, efficient, and accessible software. I've contributed to generating millions in revenue for companies, always through teamwork and collaboration.

In my current role, I established an a11y practice that didn't previously exist. I reviewed, documented, and organized a11y test results and trained developers, testers, tech leads, and BAs to ensure accessibility from design to production.

As a team-first leader, I've built relationships and led diverse teams worldwide, valuing transparency, inclusivity, and empathy to drive impactful results.

Thank you for your time, and I look forward to the opportunity to connect!

Thank you,
David Melkonian
